

1 Abstract of Disclosure

2 A handle is provided for use with a bit or extensive rod. The handle 3 includes a socket. The socket includes a thin section, a thick section, an 4 annular face between the thin and thick sections, an axial cavity and a 5 radial aperture communicated with the axial cavity in the thin section. A 6 detent is put in the radial aperture. A chuck is put on the socket for 7 control over the detent.
